

THREATENS U. S. MEXICAN HANDS WITH THE MIKADO

Arrested Jap Angry After Latter Paid His Because Bribe Fine He Skipped Fails The Country

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Because he was arrested and caged in the county jail yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock for being drunk and disturbing the peace of Cortez street, a Japanese warrior, whose name was not learned by the officers, threatens to institute proceedings looking to an investigation by the Mikado, that may lead to international complications, so declares the little brown man, and possibly involve Uncle Sam in a war with the conquerors of the Russian bear.

When taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff John Merritt in front of the Del Monte saloon, while making a second onslaught on the place, after being unceremoniously ejected only a few minutes before, the dusky veteran of the siege of Port Arthur, after being subjugated by the officer, tried to enter into negotiations for a truce until he could get himself into a better position for another passage at arms, but the wily officer refused to allow him to make any move looking towards the renewal of hostilities.

Finally, before he reached the court house, he informed Officer Merritt that he was a good Christian, and no longer a follower of Confucius, and as an evidence, offered the officer money to allow him to depart in peace.

With this proposition rejected, he flew into a rage and threatened he would have an investigation instituted by Japan, into the indignities thrust upon one of her soldiers in the land of Uncle Sam, but his threats availed him nothing.

At last accounts he was seen behind the bars comparing scars with Jim Evans, the colored barber, who is reputed to have made the record breaking time of 300 yards in less than 30 seconds, recently, with two loads of birdshot in his mahogany-colored back. After safely incarcerating the agile Jap, Deputy Merritt found a Mexican sleeping on one of the plaza grass plots, almost under the shadow of the pedestal of the Captain O'Neill Rough Rider monument, whom he provided with hotel accommodations in an apartment adjoining that of the warring Jap.

TO INSTALL HOIST.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Elliott & Drescher closed a contract yesterday with the Quartette Mining company for the installation of a hoist on its properties in the Copper Basin district. The plant will be erected as soon as the machinery is delivered on the ground. The company's mines are located adjoining the properties of the Commercial Mining company, about fourteen miles southwest of this city.

JOE ROBERTS A LEMON

After Latter Paid His Fine He Skipped The Country

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Joe Roberts, proprietor of a local meat market, and ex-sheriff of Yavapai county, has had, he declares, some of the milk of human kindness squeezed out of his naturally large heart by the actions of a Mexican sheep herder whom he rescued from the gloomy interior of the county jail last week.

Roberts had been informed that his foreman of the sheep herders in the Cordes country was a herder, and, after searching the town over in vain, for a herder, learned there was one sojourning in the county jail with a $30 fine hanging over him.

Calling on the sheriff, Mr. Roberts rescued the prisoner by paying $26 to the sheriff's office, the amount then due on the Mexican's fine. He then purchased the herder breakfast and a ticket to Cordes, and started him out for the sheep camp.

The herder arrived safely and worked four days. The routine of sheep camp life then apparently palled upon him, for, after selecting a pair of field glasses belonging to Mr. Roberts, and valued at $16, he started "trekking" for parts unknown. He was pursued and overtaken by the foreman of the camp, however, and a fight ensued, in which the field-glass thief used a pocket knife. The foreman overcame him, finally, and brought him back to the camp, but he again made his escape during the night, and has not since been seen.

"I got the field glasses back," said Mr. Roberts, "but I'm out the $26 and the price of the fellow's breakfast, besides 50 cents I spent for tobacco for him and the cost of his ticket to Cordes."

TO ORGANIZE MACCABEES.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

A. N. Kelsey, state commander of the Knights of the Maccabees, arrived here yesterday from the south and will call a meeting at an early date of the members of that organization in the city for the purpose of formulating plans for the organization of a hive here.

The order, which he represents to have a $6,000,000 surplus, invested in government, state and municipal bonds, has a peculiar interest to the citizens of this city, inasmuch as it holds $53,000 of Prescott's bonds.

There are thirty members of the order residing here now.

"The days of superstition have gone by," the Reverend Doctor Aled of New York remarks. Let him invite thirteen persons to dinner and see.

ATTORNEY REPENTS HIS HARSH WORDS

Denny Smith Sorry He Attacked Witnesses In Roach Case

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Greatly disappointed at the verdict returned by the jury in the case of T. G. Roach, convicted of the murder of John Fletener, and expressing regret that he, as attorney for the defense, had made the bitter attack that he did upon the witnesses for the prosecution in the case, Attorney Denny P. Smith of Cadiz, Ky., left yesterday for his home on the afternoon northbound train.

"I still believe Roach is not guilty," he said. "I went into the case without any preparation and without having a chance to become acquainted with any of its details. I believe that I made a great mistake in attacking the witnesses for the prosecution before the jury and am certain that had I been familiar with the particulars of the case I would have handled it differently."

"Losing this case," he added, "I consider to be the greatest defeat I ever met with in the practice of my profession. I feel confident that a new trial will be granted, and in that event I am sure Roach will be declared innocent."

Attorney Smith spoke in the highest terms of the treatment extended him by the members of the local bar. "Your attorneys," he declared, "are the equal in every way of any I have met anywhere, and I regret that my professional engagements are such that I cannot make my stay here longer."

Before boarding the train, Attorney Smith spoke in the highest terms of the district attorney, whom he declared had handled the case for the Territory in a masterful manner.

Monday has been set as the date upon which Roach will have sentence passed upon him by the court.

ENCOUNTERS NEW VEIN ON HIS PROPERTY

Paystreak Shows A Thickness Of 18 Inches

(From Saturday's Daily.)

In running a crosscut into the principal vein of his Dividend mine, in the Crook Canyon district, which he expected to encounter at a distance of 50 feet, Lute Wilson encountered another vein, unknown to exist before, at a distance of eighteen feet from the mouth of the opening. The paystreak where cut by the crosscut shows a thickness of eighteen inches, carrying average values in gold, silver and copper of $53.80 to the ton.

He is rushing work on the crosscut towards the main vein from which some very high grade ore has been mined on the surface, and which he plans to open by drifts from the crosscuts.

He also stated that as soon as the main vein was encountered, he would start a force of men on the vein recently passed through which he expects will develop as good as the other from present prospects.

The Dividend claim is the north extension of the Crook mine, which had an enviable reputation as a producer in the early history of mining in these parts.

Mr. Wilson also said that in the lower levels of the Mount Union mine an ore shoot was recently uncovered which was more extensive than any encountered before in the mine and that work was being vigorously pushed in the sinking of the deep shaft in that property.

WELL ACQUAINTED.

Gayboy—Well, your father has consented to our marriage. Aren't you surprised?

Miss Willing—Oh, no! You see, papa doesn't know you as well as I do.

Letters From The People

AN ODD FELLOW'S HOME.

Editor Journal-Miner.

There is now being agitated among Odd Fellows of Arizona, the question of locating a home for old and indigent members of the order, also for the homeless widows and orphans of deceased members.

In dealing with this great question there is much to be taken into consideration—but above all else health is of greatest importance. These old people, who, through age and infirmities, have lost the vitality that once coursed through their system, should not be obliged to pass their remaining days in a section of the Territory where, during a great part of the year, their very lives would be frozen out of them, should they stay out doors for a breath of fresh air or a little exercise. On the other hand, they should not have their lives barked out of them half the year, during the short time they have to stay. The object should be, and I dare say will be, to locate them where they may receive the greatest blessings as regards comfort and earthly pleasure for those aged and infirm, and where those of tender age may be reared to manhood and womanhood, full of health and vigor. To give these boys and girls an education and professional training before starting them out in the world is all right, but coupled with this—measure them out with good health, the measure is filled to overflowing and this great fraternal organization shall have reason to rejoice.

Is it not true, that Prescott is so situated as to offer this, greatest of all essentials—a health giving climate? Is it not true, that her altitude is such that the inmates of such an institution could live without either freezing or roasting during any season of the year? It certainly does have this natural advantage over any other location that may be offered within the borders of the Territory—and now let Prescott "pull" for the location of this home here. When I say "Prescott" I mean everyone who has the best interests of the city at heart. Every person within its borders will be, more or less, benefitted by having such an institution located here, and these blessings will continue to grow from one year to another.

In the Hoosier state, when the Odd Fellows were talking of locating a home, there were great inducements offered by different towns. It was finally located at Greensburg, about thirty-five miles from the state capital, and there is not a business man in that city today who regrets the time and money spent in securing that home for Greensburg. Twice a year, during the session of the Grand lodge, Grand encampment and Rebekah assembly, a special train is chartered to take the representatives of these different branches of the order for a visit to the home. And from all parts of the state there comes individuals and delegations from the different lodges to inspect and visit the home.

These frequent visits to the home means business for hotels, restaurants, livery stables, street cars and, in fact, all kinds of business comes in for a share. It proves a great advertisement for a town and helps real estate dealers along with others.

Another thing to Prescott's credit is her distinction of having the oldest, and said to be the best, lodge of the Territory. I can safely say, from a personal knowledge, that Arizona Lodge No. 1 has as fine a lodge home as will be found most anywhere back in the states. And to say the least of the members, such as I have met, and upon short acquaintance, I felt safe in offering to risk myself with any of them in Jerry-co or any other mountain village of Arizona. They are all right, and all you need is more of the same kind, to make most any town better.

Let everybody have something to say in behalf of getting this home, and you that can't talk, why write something for the local paper, so we can all see where you stand, on how to bring the greatest good to the city.

An ounce of effort at the proper time, is worth a ton of "I told you so," after a thing has either been gained or lost.
